

Adrián Fernández de Pedro

Senior Associate

Madrid

Biography

In addition to representing international companies in a full range of business and corporate law matters, Adrián has been involved in providing day-to-day advice on Spanish consumer protection, retail trade, e-commerce and advertising regulations. Based in Madrid, Adrián understands the legal needs of multinational companies doing business in Spain and provides them with agile, practical and clear advice. Because many multinational corporations have limited in-house legal capacity in Spain, he embraces the role of outside counsel as if he were, in fact, an in-house lawyer by working alongside with their legal hubs all around the world. Adrián combines his passion practicing law with keen business management know-how to help his clients achieve business success.

Adrián has a degree in Business Administration from Autónoma University of Madrid. He also has experience in the life science sector. Adrián has advised multinational pharmaceutical companies both from a corporate and regulatory law perspective. In 2015, he was seconded to a top world pharmaceutical company. During the first years of law school, Adrián combined his studies with the training sessions of local football teams. Adrián adapts his football experience to his everyday practice in the form of teamwork, spirit of improvement and hard work.
