

Bribery and Corruption

In the wake of the global clampdown on bribery and corruption, multinational businesses and their executives face a number of threats — an assertive government agency, a corrupt employee or official.

No matter the scenario, the lawyers on the Bribery and Corruption Task Force at Hogan Lovells understand your predicament. We have decades of experience with the full range of bribery and corruption matters, including tax-related crimes, money laundering, fraud, and intellectual property crimes. Regulatory investigations, anti-bribery compliance programs, and managing exposure and risk are our core strength.

Chambers Europe 2014 calls our team "formidable."

Representative experience

Investigating allegations of bribery at a UK listed global industrial group, including advising on issues relating to the Bribery Act and the Serious Fraud Office.

Advising a U.S. software company on multiple internal investigations across China regarding allegations of bribery and other conduct of former employees, raising FCPA issues.

Undertaking an internal investigation of Eletrobras, the largest electric company in Brazil, of allegations related to the Petrobras "Lavo Jato" scandal.

Advising a global client on an international internal investigation with regard to criminal liability issues arising from the bribery allegations against FIFA.

Contacts

Stephanie Yonekura,

Los Angeles

Crispin Rapinet,

London

Practices

Investigations, White Collar, and Fraud

Latest thinking and events

News

Italy implements EU Whistleblower Directive: the new obligations for companies

Published Works

Bribery and corruption risks in the manufacturing sector

Chief Executive

News

DOJ announces new policies concerning third party messaging apps and compensation clawbacks

News

The False Claims Act Guide: 2022 and the road ahead

Webinar

Global Bribery and Corruption 2023 webinar

News

On the greylist – what does this mean?