

Consumer Protection and Privacy

Never before have consumer protection and privacy ranked as high on your priority list. Their significance in the private and public spheres is only growing.

Navigating matters regarding TCPA, CPNI, and other privacy, marketing, billing, disclosure, and transparency issues can be overwhelming.

The lawyers at Hogan Lovells help you synchronize with different compliance frameworks. We cover the full span of regulators, including the FCC, FTC, and state regulators.

Our ultimate goal is to help you understand, respond to, and mitigate consumer protection and privacy risk.

With Hogan Lovells, you can approach this priority area with confidence.

Latest thinking and events

News

Australia: New SOCI Critical Infrastructure Risk Management Program Rules now in effect

News

Securing Cyberspace: White House releases National Cybersecurity Strategy

News

NIST prepares for Cybersecurity Framework 2.0, with increased focus on governance and supply chain

News

Contacts

Michele C. Farquhar,
Washington, D.C.

Mark W. Brennan,
Washington, D.C.

Practices

Communications,
Internet, and Media

Industries

Consumer

Recent developments in African data protection laws –
Outlook for 2023

Press Releases

Former D.C. Attorney General Karl Racine joins Hogan
Lovells' Washington, D.C. office

News

Controversial obligation to store user data to be imposed on electronic communications undertakings