

Food and Beverages

From well-established conglomerates to niche startups, we live and breathe (or rather, eat and drink) this space.

The world of food and beverage is an exceptionally complex landscape of legislative concerns and regulatory guardrails. Our Food and Beverage team has honed its know-how alongside some of the most transformational brands in this space for more than 40 years.

From well-established conglomerates to niche startups, we live and breathe (or rather, eat and drink) this space.

The world of food and beverage is an exceptionally complex landscape of legislative concerns and regulatory guardrails. Our Food and Beverage team has honed its know-how alongside some of the most transformational brands in this space for more than 40 years.

We advise the world's top food and beverage producers, manufacturers, and retailers, as well as startups, trade associations, and nonprofits. Every single stage of the production and distribution cycle has unique impacts on the business strategies of our clients – and that's precisely where we thrive.

Representative experience

Providing ongoing FSMA counsel and updates to multiple food and beverage clients, including companies large and small, industry trade associations, and foreign manufacturers.

Contacts

Martin J. Hahn,
Washington, D.C.

Richard Welfare,
London

Maile Gradison,
Washington, D.C.

Thomas Salomon, LL.M. (Illinois),
Hamburg

Ernesto Algaba Reyes,
Mexico City

Practices

Food Law

Industries

Consumer

Reviewing food safety plans, helping companies develop supply chain programs, updating inspection and recall manuals, and developing tools such as self-assessments and checklists to assist in implementation.

Advising leading U.S.-based food and beverage manufacturers on developing Asia IP strategies, including dealing with oppositions, cancellations, and enforcement actions in China and 15 other countries in Asia.

Advising a global food manufacturer on distribution structures in Europe, competition law, trading arrangements, disputes with distributors/retailers, and the application of the Commercial Agents Directive.

Advising an international dairy company on building its employment framework in China.

Advising a fruit and soft drinks manufacturer on global regulatory compliance issues such as product labeling, health claims, novel food authorization, and advice on distribution and co-packing arrangements.

Advising an alcohol beverage manufacturer on a wide range of competition law issues regarding its distribution network in Italy.

Representing one of the largest global nutritional food and beverage companies in connection with new product clearance/freedom-to-operate analyses, litigation counseling, and strategic licensing advice.

Advising Asahi on its £250 million acquisition of the premium beer business of Fuller, Smith & Turner.

Advising a global food and feed manufacturer on product compliance, labeling, and packaging together with its commercial arrangements governing product manufacture, warehousing, distribution, and licensing.

Latest thinking and events

Hogan Lovells Events

A Seat at the Table: PFAS Laws Affecting the Food Industry, Compliance Strategies, and the Litigation Landscape

News

U.S. Supreme Court upholds California's Proposition 12 law regarding animal welfare

News

FDA Invites Comment on Petition Seeking to Repeal Color Additive Listing for Titanium Dioxide in Food

News

USDA releases proposal to declare Salmonella an adulterant in raw breaded and stuffed chicken products

News

Precautionary allergen labelling, "free-from" claims and the establishment of thresholds

News

FDA seeks comment on food labeling information in e-commerce