

Oil and Gas: Refinery and Petrochemical Projects

Hogan Lovells works with oil and gas refiners, petrochemical companies, service companies, and project sponsors around the world. Our lawyers focus on transactional, finance, regulatory, intellectual property, and dispute resolution matters — so you can focus on running and growing your business.

We stay on top of the legal issues related to challenges and opportunities, such as evolving processing technology; changing environmental, health, and safety regulations; and innovative financing arrangements. We anticipate roadblocks before they materialize, keeping you ahead of the curve.

Representative experience

Advising a contractor on the EPC contract for design and construction a petrochemical plant at Rabigh in Saudi Arabia.

Advising Statoil on the acquisition of Conoco Phillips' JET petrol stations in Norway, Sweden, and Denmark.

Advising a Japanese company on its construction and development of the Nghi Son Refinery Complex in Vietnam.

Assisting an international general contractor in proceedings regarding alleged delays in the construction of an industrial facility in a refinery.

Contacts

Maria Wyckoff Boyce,
Houston

Greg Hill,
Houston

Ben Sulaiman,
London

Industries

Energy and Natural Resources

Latest thinking and events

News

U.S. Space officials look to advance nuclear space power capabilities

News

The National Security and Investment Act 2021: a review of the regime's first year in operation

News

Japan, U.S. agree to strengthen cooperation on advanced nuclear reactors and other energy matters

News

NRC staff issues options paper recommending a regulatory framework for fusion

News

A step closer to developing commercial fusion energy

News

A step closer to developing commercial fusion energy