

Oil and Gas: Supply, Marketing, and Trading

Hogan Lovells understands that oil and gas supply and trading can be a source of tremendous value to your bottom line. Whether you are an oil and gas company or a financial institution, we move quickly to keep you at the forefront of global markets.

Negotiating financial derivatives and high value structured transactions. Advising on financial regulations impacting supply and trading, physical energy trading, and credit support documents. Providing commodity-related dispute resolution. These services combined with our local knowledge of emerging markets can help bring your business wherever in the world it needs to go.

Representative experience

Advised BNP Paribas Commodities on oil storage and swap transaction.

Advised a trading company on terminal use and feedstock supply for its investment in a refinery and petrochemical project in South East Asia.

Advised a lender on a proposed US$3bn trade finance facility secured by receivables under a long-term oil supply agreement.

Represented BoAML on regulatory developments on the emissions trading market on an ongoing basis.

Contacts

Maria Wyckoff Boyce,
Houston

Greg Hill,
Houston

Ben Sulaiman,
London

Industries

Energy and Natural Resources

Latest thinking and events

Insights and Analysis

Webinar: Data protection in the Middle East and Africa feat. Nigerian Data Protection Commissioner

Insights and Analysis

Weekends in Greece

News

Significant nuclear fission and fusion announcements coming out of COP28

Insights and Analysis

Anti-money laundering and counter-terrorism financing in the UAE: An update

News

White House and DOE announced $7 billion for seven clean hydrogen hubs in the U.S.

News

DOJ announces policy for self-disclosures on criminal misconduct of acquired companies, with a catch