

Product Compliance

Your product's reputation is your most valuable asset. Our market-leading products compliance and litigation team knows how to get your product onto the market and keep it there.

We work with many of the world's leading businesses, covering all aspects of the product lifecycle where compliance issues arise — manufacture, supply chain, marketing, and end-user. We focus on risk management and international compliance well before product launch. And we deal with challenges that arise over time — whether you're innovating in new technology, entering new markets, or managing issues in established areas.

We have worked in the most complex and highly regulated industries, including life sciences, technology, food, and financial services.

We manage regulatory investigations, product risk assessments, recalls, and litigation.

Representative experience

We advise companies on the largest and most complex global recalls, from medical devices, cars, and power tools to computers and mobile phones.

Latest thinking and events

Media mention

The EU's new batteries regulation: When and how its requirements will impact Medtech

Contacts

Andrew McGinty,
Hong Kong

Richard Welfare,
London

Practices

Products Law

Complex
Contracting

Transportation
