

Jason Chohonis

Associate
New York

Biography

Jason Chohonis advises clients facing government and internal investigations, civil litigation issues, and international arbitration disputes.

Jason has helped clients navigate risks related to the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act, external auditor investigations, and complex civil litigation.

In addition to serving as the Managing Editor of the Emory Law Journal, while in law school Jason gained valuable experience with a series of externships and internships at the SEC, DOJ, and the Federal District Court for the Northern District of Georgia, with the Honorable William M. Ray II. Jason also served as a student attorney with Emory's International Humanitarian Rights Clinic, working on matters related to Guantanamo Bay. Jason's commitment to pro bono work has carried over to his work at Hogan Lovells, where he has worked with numerous clients facing asylum proceedings.

Latest thinking and events

- News
 - Q3 2023 Quarterly Corporate / M&A decisions updates
- News
 - Anderson v. Magellan: Delaware Court of Chancery elevates standard to justify mootness fees
- News
 - Q2 2023 Quarterly Corporate / M&A decisions

Phone

+1 212 918 3892

Fax

+1 212 918 3100

Email

jason.chohonis@hoganlovells.com

Languages

English

Education and admissions

Education

J.D., Emory University School of Law,
High Honors, Order of the Coif, 2022

M.A., Florida International
University, 2014

B.S., Florida State University, 2006

Bar admissions and qualifications

New York

updates

- News
 - Delaware court holds Corwin does not cleanse claims based on “enduring alleged entrenchment devices”
- News
 - Delaware Supreme Court reverses US$690 million judgment in Boardwalk Pipeline Partners
- News
 - DOJ announces new policies concerning third party messaging apps and compensation clawbacks