

Sylvia Dávila Arsuaga

Associate
Monterrey

Biography

Sylvia's experience covers advising clients in strategic acquisitions, financial structures, commercial negotiations, and real estate transactions.

She focuses in understanding the full picture of every transaction, and making sure all aspects work and interact seamlessly for her clients, while keeping sight of every relevant detail.

Sylvia has also been strongly involved in assessing legal risks in pre-conflictual matters, and strives to find common ground that will translate into a positive outcome for her clients.

Sylvia's clients involve multinational corporations, international and local financial institutions, key national players in various industries and government agencies.

Due to her extraordinary academic performance, right after graduating law school, Sylvia was invited and currently holds a teaching assistant position for the Obligations I and Obligations II courses in her alma mater, Facultad Libre de Derecho de Monterrey.

Additionally, Sylvia is committed to Hogan Lovells's ESG agenda, actively seeking alternatives for business and human rights disputes prevention and remedy through her published academic work.

Finally, Sylvia is devoted to advancing people with disabilities' rights, and has pursued a couple of legislative initiatives in the Mexican Congress and
