

James Dayman

Associate

Dublin

London

Biography

James is an associate in our Antitrust, Competition and Economic Regulation practice. He advises on all aspects of EU and UK competition law, including on multi-jurisdictional merger control, antitrust investigations and competition law compliance, as well as on the application of the UK's subsidy control rules.

James also has experience acting for clients in relation to competition litigation, having worked on class actions and stand-alone claims before the CAT and the English High Court.

Representative experience

Advising IBM on its $6.4bn acquisition of HashiCorp.

Acting for clients in standalone and class action claims resulting from an alleged breach of competition law.

Advising clients across a range of sectors on the application of merger control and foreign direct investment laws.

Advising UK public authorities on subsidy control assessments, scheme design and relevant procedural requirements.

Acting for the Defendant to a class action brought in the English High Court by a significant number of data subjects said to have been affected by a 2017 cyberattack.

Phone

+353 1 669 8559 (Dublin)

+44 20 7296 2000 (London)

Email

james.dayman@hoganlovells.com

Languages

English

Areas of focus

State Aid and Subsidy Control

Education and admissions

Education

BA (Hons) Philosophy, Politics and Economics, New College, Oxford, First Class, 2020

Memberships

Law Society Competition Section

Latest thinking and events

■ News

- UK competition class actions: first claim to go to trial dismissed

■ News

- UK subsidy control consultation – your voice counts

Law Society of England and Wales

Bar admissions and qualifications

Solicitor, England and Wales

Solicitor, Republic of Ireland
