

Gregory Hawkins

Associate

Washington, D.C.

Biography

Greg Hawkins advises clients on a range of international trade-related matters. Greg helps clients navigate trade litigation, economic sanctions, export controls, foreign investment reviews, and other trade-related issues.

Greg represents companies in international trade administrative proceedings before the U.S. Department of Commerce and U.S. International Trade Commission. He also helps clients comply with international trade laws, including the Export Administration Regulations and the sanctions regulations administered by the Office of Foreign Assets Control. Greg also advises clients on matters involving the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States.

While in law school, Greg was a staff member of the Georgetown Journal of International Law and received the Certificate in WTO & International Trade Studies. As a member of the Policy Clinic's trade team, Greg received the International Academy of Trial Lawyers Student Advocacy Award for his analysis of trade-related aspects of federal carbon tax border adjustment design. In the summer following his first year of law school, Greg interned at the U.S. Department of the Treasury in the Office of International Affairs.
