

Jill Clucas

Counsel Knowledge Lawyer
London

Biography

Jill enjoys keeping clients and our pension team up to date on the ever changing world of pension law. She is interested in clear, effective communication and relishes the challenge of explaining complex subjects in concise, plain English, focusing on the practical implications for employers and trustees.

Jill prides herself in providing top class seminars for pension clients: "Lots of content, good presenters, detailed enough without being too detailed – definitely worth my time!" (employer client, January 2020) "A well organised day with lots of information well backed up with documentation" (trustee client, September 2020)

Jill joined the firm (then Lovell White Durrant) in 1995 as a trainee and has been here ever since. A self-confessed geek, she thinks that deciphering technical legislation or a complex judgment is really fun. Even better is talking through legal challenges with her pension team colleagues, helping them to come up with solutions to their clients' pension challenges.

Representative experience

Developing interactive training for pension trustees on matters such as conflicts of interest, scheme funding and death benefits.

Creating the online Hogan Lovells Pension Planner.

14 years' service as a member-nominated trustee of the Hogan Lovells UK Pension Scheme.
