

Nicholas W. Laneville

Senior Associate
Washington, D.C.

Biography

Nicholas Laneville helps clients resolve complex international matters. Whether the problem involves domestic U.S. regulations or public international law, Nicholas finds solutions that meet clients' needs. He has successfully assisted clients operating in multiple business sectors, including renewable energy, steel, aluminum, automotive, oil and gas, medical devices, pharmaceuticals, food and beverage, and mining.

In the international trade arena, clients call upon Nicholas to assist with legal challenges involving trade remedies, customs, U.S. trade policy, and matters under the auspices of the World Trade Organization. In the realm of international arbitration, he helps states and investors resolve complex disputes under bilateral investment treaties, free trade agreements, and other international agreements.

Nicholas represents clients before U.S. courts, international arbitral tribunals, the U.S. Department of Commerce, the International Trade Commission, and the U.S. Customs and Border Protection.

While in law school, Nicholas interned at the U.S. Senate Finance Committee, working on international trade policy issues. He also interned at the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes, assisting investment arbitration tribunals in discharging their mandate. Nicholas also served as the senior articles editor for the American University International Law Review.
