

Annie Lund

Associate
London

Biography

Annie is an Associate in the International Arbitration, Construction & Engineering Disputes team in London. Her practice focuses on cross-border dispute resolution and dispute avoidance for clients in the engineering, construction and technology sectors.

Annie has particular experience in helping clients navigate and prepare technically complex and document-heavy cases. She also advises clients on public procurement disputes, having acted for both tenderer and contracting authority in recent high-profile cases in England and Wales.

Annie has acted for clients in mediations, in arbitrations under the LCIA and ICC rules, in litigation in the Technology and Construction Court in London and in statutory adjudication proceedings.

From January to April 2020, Annie worked as a judicial assistant to the judges of the Technology and Construction Court. Annie is also currently studying for a MSc in Construction Law & Dispute Resolution at King's College, London alongside her professional practice.
