

28 January 2020

In the “Trade Demystified” video series, Hogan Lovells lawyers highlight selected topics in international trade and investment law. These short videos present a brief analysis of complex, high-profile topics, providing a foundation for further discussion.

Our International Trade team comments on additional restrictions on trade with Cuba

U.S. policy reversal allows suits in U.S. courts and visa denials, for “trafficking” in confiscated property in Cuba

Our International Trade team comments on the escalating U.S.-China trade conflict

Our International Trade team comments on U.S.-EU trade relations

Our International Trade team comments on U.S.-EU trade conflict, multilateralism, and the WTO

Trade controls and foreign investment reviews involving China continue to expand

Our International Trade team comments on recent Iran-related developments: Central bank sanctions, humanitarian trade, and anti-money laundering rules

Our International Trade team comments on far-reaching proposed U.S. rule concerning the Information and Communications Technology Supply Chain

Our International Trade team comments on the Department of Energy’s proposed rulemaking imposing civil penalties for violations of the Part 810 regulations

> Read the full article online