

Watch a recording of our seminar: Insurance and Structured Finance – a new dawn?

February 2017

Insurance and Structured Finance

A growing trend is emerging within the insurance sector, where insurers and other users of insurance products are looking to structured finance solutions both from an investment and risk management perspective.

What are the driving forces behind this development? Is regulation enhancing or impeding the trend? What role do insurers and other participants play in this new market?

On 10 November 2016, Hogan Lovells hosted a seminar to discuss these issues. Our panel of experts drawn from across the industry put forward their thoughts and shared their own recent experiences.

Watch the recording of the seminar by clicking here.

We also produced a summary of the event, which can be read here.

If you have any specific questions regarding the content, please reach out to the Hogan Lovells speakers directly.

- James Doyle - Global Head of International Debt Capital Markets, Hogan Lovells
- Tauhid Ijaz - Partner, Hogan Lovells
- Steven McEwan - Partner, Hogan Lovells
- Michael Eakins - Managing Director and Co-Head of Rate Sales Goldman Sachs
- Gavin Palmer - Partner, Life insurance team KPMG
- Mark Wood\* - CEO (and former CEO of Prudential UK and AXA UK) Walbrook Advisors

*Due to illness, Mark Wood was unable to participate in the panel discussion at the seminar, but he was closely involved in pre-seminar discussions, and he attended on the morning of the seminar prior to it beginning. His thoughts are included in the summary document.

Contacts

Steven
McEwan

Partner

James Doyle

Partner

Tauhid Ijaz

Partner

> Read the full article online