

Tim Goggin

Partner

London

Biography

Tim is a partner in the Financial Institutions Group. He provides corporate and regulatory advice to insurance industry clients including Part VII transfers, mergers and acquisitions, reorganisations, joint ventures, authorisations, and (re)insurance arrangements. He offers an integrated approach taking into consideration the demand for innovative financing structures.

With his extensive experience dealing with insurance regulators, Tim works closely with clients to manage regulatory relationships in a constructive, timely, and coordinated way. His regulatory practice includes advising on organisational governance and the specific legal and regulatory requirements relating to the Lloyd's market. He also helps clients navigate solvency and capital management regulation; anticipating regulatory issues before they arise.

Tim joined Hogan Lovells in 1994 and became a partner in 2003. Since 2004 he has been recommended for non-life insurance corporate and regulatory work by the UK's legal directories. He is a regular speaker on insurance business transfers.
